Re: AI Valuation Chief of Staff, Vice President — Finance & Business Management (Job ID 210776418)

Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the AI Valuation Chief of Staff role in Finance & Business Management, Job ID 210776418. I spent six years inside JPMorgan Chase — owning Basel III RWA and capital adequacy reporting on a $50B portfolio and surfacing $180M in capital optimization for CFO decision support, then leading CCAR forecast validation over a $2.6T balance sheet under SR 15-18. I would like to come back, on the Finance side rather than the assurance side.

What I actually do, stated plainly. I take a reporting process that is manual, slow, and hard to defend, and I make it governed, automated, and defensible. Four instances, all measured: capital and liquidity reconciliations automated, cutting manual review effort ~40% and removing a recurring source of reporting error. 500+ legal-entity data sources consolidated into governed master data, enabling automated FR 2900 and TIC filings at 99.8% accuracy. $180M in capital optimization identified because someone read the RWA treatment closely enough to find it. And a retrieval-augmented reporting assistant I built myself in Python and LangChain, integrated with Alteryx, that cut review cycle time ~35% — I did not commission that tool, I wrote it.

Why an auditor is applying for a Finance role. For the past five years at Citi I assessed whether financial and business reporting controls across 15+ business units actually worked — not whether they existed on paper. Four years of judging other people's reporting processes is the fastest education available in how to run one. I know what a reviewer will ask for, what evidence survives challenge, and which shortcuts create a finding eighteen months later. I also began my career as a bank examiner with the Florida Office of Financial Regulation, examining banks alongside federal banking regulators, so the standard was learned from the examiner's side of the table before I ever had to meet it from the inside.

The honest gap. Twenty years of this record is Corporate & Investment Bank and enterprise Finance. It is not Consumer & Community Banking. I have not managed a card P&L;, a deposits book, or a home-lending portfolio, and I would rather say that now than have it surface in week three. The consumer product set is genuine ramp. What transfers without adjustment is the financial-control discipline: how a close is governed, how a capital or liquidity number is substantiated, how legal-entity and management reporting is built so it reconciles, and how a reporting process gets automated without losing its audit trail. Those do not change between business units.

I am based in Newark — Jersey City is a 25-minute commute, five days a week. I would welcome the conversation, and I am glad to walk through any of the four results above in detail.

Sincerely,

Yasir A. Malik
