PROFILE

Finance operator who builds the model from a blank page, questions every input, and turns the answer into a decision a leader can act on. At JPMorgan Chase, owned forecasting and capital models at scale: CCAR forecast validation over a $2.6T balance sheet and Basel III capital analytics that found $180M of optimisation for the CFO. At Citi, reported to executives and the Board, and built and shipped an AI tool in production that cut review cycle time ~35%. Since 2010 has run his own real-estate business, underwriting every acquisition on unit economics: acquisition cost, payback, cash yield and contribution after operating cost. Pulls his own data in SQL and BI tools. Brings a regulator's and auditor's eye to deal terms, pricing and data integrity, and an insider's view of how professional-services buyers evaluate AI.
